CAMAHK and Bloomberg Host Third Annual Offshore China Fund Awards
2017 Winners Announced

Bloomberg and the China Asset Management Association of Hong Kong (CAMAHK) are proud to host their third annual Offshore China Fund Awards in Hong Kong yesterday evening. The awards dinner was attended by more than 150 of the industry's key players along with dignitaries, including Chris Sun, Deputy Secretary for Financial Services and Treasury HKSAR, Howard Lee, Senior Executive Director of the Hong Kong Monetary Authority, and Christina Choi, Executive Director of the Hong Kong Securities and Futures Commission Investment Products Division. The award rankings were calculated using proprietary methodologies from data provided compiled by Bloomberg.

Chairperson of CAMAHK, CEO of CSOP Asset Management, Madam Chen Ding commented, "We're delighted that Chinese funds in Hong Kong continue to flourish and capture investor interest. With the integration of China and the global financial market, our organisation continues to play a valuable role in promoting knowledge and best practices in our community - which is why we continue to partner with Bloomberg." She added, "Their world class analytics, news, data, know-how and global reach are invaluable for any Chinese fund manager looking to grow internationally."

Taran Khera, Head of Sales for APAC at Bloomberg, noted, "Hong Kong has become a valuable springboard for Chinese asset managers looking to internationalise. It's a major flow centre for China and a world class financial hub where we have been supporting investors for almost 25 years." He continued, "Bloomberg will continue to support its growing fund community and be the bridge that connects China with offshore global investors."
